PLAINTIFF'S TRADEMARKS

9. Non-party John Delutro began selling cannoli through the business he opened in 1973, Caffè Palermo, and by 1977 he began using the mark “Cannoli King” in commerce. Mr. Delutro’s cannoli were such a success that he became known as “Cannoli King” and he and his cannoli were featured on numerous news shows and publications such as NY Daily News, the Vinny Vella Show, The Villager, The Downtowner, New York Post, and Wall Street Journal Cheat Sheet, as well as various news and radio shows such as, NBC4 New York, Fox5 News, ABC7 Eyewitness News, New York’s PIX11 News, and the Joey Reynolds show.

10. Since he began using the trademark “Cannoli King” in 1977, Mr. Delutro continuously used and extensively marketed his trademark “Cannoli King.” As a result of his success and publicity, the “Cannoli King” mark has acquired significant recognition among consumers, and the general public has come to associate the trademark “Cannoli King” with Plaintiff’s premium-quality cannoli.

11. On August 25, 2015, Mr. Delutro filed a trademark application with the United States Patent and Trademark Office for the mark “Cannoli King.”

12. On April 19, 2016, Mr. Delutro’s trademark application was published for opposition in the Official Gazette.

13. On July 5, 2016, Mr. Delutro obtained a federal registration for his “Cannoli King” trademark, U.S. Trademark Registration 4991693, covering cannoli. A copy of the “Cannoli King” certificate of trademark registration is attached as Exhibit “A” and incorporated by reference.

14. Mr. Delutro's use in commerce of the "Cannoli King" mark has been continuous and uninterrupted since August 17, 1977. During this time, Mr. Delutro has invested significant resources to develop and foster the reputation, recognition, and goodwill associated with his trademark, including through extensive advertising and promotional efforts and enforcement of his valuable trademark rights.

15. On March 30, 2017, Plaintiff acquired all rights and ownership to the trademark "Cannoli King" pursuant to an Intellectual Trademark Assignment agreement entered into with Mr. Delutro. Pursuant to the agreement between JO-RACH, INC. and Mr. Delutro, JO-RACH, INC. acquired all of Mr. Delutro's rights, title and interests in and the "Cannoli King" trademark including all rights to sue for past, present or future infringement of the mark and to recover damages, profits and other remedies from such infringement. A copy of the Intellectual Property Assignment is annexed hereto as Exhibit "B."

16. The Assignment was registered with the United States Patent and Trademark Office on March 31, 2017.

DEFENDANTS' INFRINGING USE OF THE CANNOLI KING TRADEMARK

17. Upon information and belief, after Mr. Delutro's extensive use of the trademark Cannoli King, Defendants, who operate a pastry shop in Bronx, New York, have begun using Plaintiff's well-known trademark by holding themselves out as "The Cannoli King."

18. Plaintiff discovered Defendants' infringing use of his mark after the opening of the Broadway Show "A Bronx Tale," containing a store front on the set called Gino's Pastry Shop "The Cannoli King." The show led to various news articles attributing that pastry shop contained in the show to Defendants' bakery operating out of Bronx, New York.

19. In light of the extreme similarity between the goods and services being offered for sale by Defendants and Plaintiff, Defendants use of “The Cannoli King” in commerce is likely to cause confusion in the marketplace with Plaintiff’s trademark. The resulting confusion will damage Plaintiff and injure its reputation in the trade and with the public.

20. Since discovering the use by Defendants of “The Cannoli King” in commerce, Plaintiff, through counsel, has repeatedly contacted the producers of “Bronx Tale” as well as Defendants requesting that they discontinue and cease the use of Plaintiff’s trademark. A copy of the correspondence sent by Plaintiff’s counsel is annexed hereto as Exhibit “C.”

21. While Plaintiff and the producers of a “Bronx Tale” has reached a resolution, Defendants have refused to cease using Plaintiff’s trademark and, instead, on January 31, 2017, filed an application with the United States Patent and Trademark Office to trademark “The Cannoli King,” a mark that is nearly identical to Plaintiff’s “Cannoli King” mark.

22. Despite Plaintiff’s counsel’s request, Defendants have continued the use of the confusingly similar mark, leading to confusion, deception and/or mistake among consumers.

FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION
(Infringement of a Registered Trademark, 15 U.S.C. § 1114)

23. Plaintiff repeats, realleges, and incorporates by reference Paragraphs “1” through “22” above as if fully set forth herein.

24. Plaintiff is the owner of the federal trademark registration for “Cannoli King” as set forth above.

25. Defendants have used in commerce, without Plaintiff’s consent, marks that are highly similar to Plaintiff’s “Cannoli King” mark and that, taking into account the extremely similar commercial activities of the parties, such use is likely to cause confusion, deception or mistake among consumers.

26. Section 32 (1)(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1114 (1)(a), prohibits any person from using in commerce, without the consent of the registrants:

Any reproduction, counterfeit, copy, or colorable imitation of a registered mark in connection with the sale, offering for sale, distribution, or advertising of any goods or services on or in connection with which such use is likely to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, or to deceive...

27. By virtue of the Defendants' conduct, there is a likelihood of confusion between the products of Plaintiff and Defendants. Defendants' conduct constitutes an infringement of Plaintiff's registered mark under § 1114 of the Lanham Act.

28. Defendants' unauthorized and infringing use of Plaintiff's "Cannoli King" trademark will, unless enjoined, cause irreparable harm, damage and injury to the goodwill inured to Plaintiff's mark that has been fostered over the last 40 years.

29. Accordingly, Defendants have engaged in trademark infringement in violation of 15 U.S.C. §1114.

30. Plaintiff has been, and will continue to be, irreparably harmed, damaged and injured as a result of Defendants' infringements and threatened infringements of Plaintiff's trademark.

31. As a consequence of Defendants' unauthorized use of Plaintiff's "Cannoli King" trademark, Plaintiff is entitled to an injunction as set forth below.

32. In addition, Defendants have unlawfully and wrongfully derived, and will continue to derive, income and profits from their infringing acts.

33. As a consequence of Defendants' willful infringement, Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law and is entitled to recover treble damages or profits in an amount yet to be determined.

SECOND CAUSE OF ACTION

(Trade Dress Infringement and False Designation of Origin, 15 U.S.C. § 1125 (a))

35. Section 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a) provides, in relevant part, that:

Any person who, on or in connection with any goods or services, or any container for goods, uses in commerce any word, term, name, symbol, or device, or any combination thereof, or any false designation of origin, false or misleading description of fact, or false or misleading representation of fact, which—(1)(a) is likely to cause confusion, or to cause mistake, or to deceive as to the affiliation, connection, or association of such person with another person, or as to the origin, sponsorship, or approval of his or her goods, services, or commercial activities by another person... shall be liable in a civil action by any person who believes that he or she is or is likely to be damaged by such act.

Defendants' acts constitute the use in commerce of false designations of origin and false and/or misleading descriptions or representations, tending to falsely or misleadingly describe and or represent Defendants' products, and constitute a wrongful deprivation of Plaintiff's good name and reputation, and the wrongful deprivation of plaintiff's right to public recognition and credit as the true source of the “Cannoli King” moniker, which has been continuously used by Plaintiff since 1977.

38. Defendants' acts as described above, are likely to cause confusion, mistake and/or deception as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation or approval of Defendants' goods and services. Further, Defendants' acts described above constitute false representation of fact that are also likely to cause confusion, mistake, and/or deception as to the source, sponsorship, affiliation, or approval of Defendants' goods and services.

39. Defendant's unauthorized use of Plaintiff's "Cannoli King" trademark has damaged Plaintiff and the business and goodwill symbolized by the trademark.

40. As a consequence of Defendant's unauthorized use of the "Cannoli King" trademark, Plaintiff is entitled to an injunction as set forth below, and order of destruction of all Defendants' infringing materials and products, Defendants' profits, Plaintiff's damages and costs of this action.

48. By the acts described above, Defendants have diluted, and are likely to dilute the distinctiveness of Plaintiff's trademark, and caused a likelihood of harm to Plaintiff's business reputation in violation of Section 360-1 of the New York General Business Law.

49. Defendants' acts have caused, and will continue to cause, irreparable injury to Plaintiff. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law and is thus damaged in an amount not yet determined.
